LEADING INFECTION CONTROL SOFTWARE CHANGES OWNERSHIP

-CKM Healthcare Acquires PointClickCare's Infection Control and Outbreak Administrator-

(Mississauga July 21, 2008) - PointClickCare, the leader in business office and electronic medical records software for the Long-Term Care industry, announced today that it is selling its Infection Control and Outbreak Administrator (ICOA) software system to CKM Healthcare Incorporated, a company specializing in providing infection control software solutions from independent long care facilities to large hospital chains.

"It was a difficult decision to sell ICOA because it was our company's first software offering and there is an emotional attachment," said Mike Wessinger, President and CEO of PointClickCare. "We're confident, however, that CKM's outstanding management and focused expertise will drive ICOA to even greater heights."

With the purchase of ICOA, CKM Healthcare will be the infection control software vendor of choice for more than 300 hospitals and long-term care facilities throughout North America. The company plans to launch a major release of ICOA within the next few months with on-going future plans to provide additional modules and capabilities.

"ICOA is an excellent software program that helps save time and money," said Rob Moulson, CKM Healthcare's VP of Customer Success and Product Development. "The change in ownership will be seamless and customers can expect the same great support and service. We look forward to partnering with our customers to evolve the product to make it a cost-effective solution that continuously meets industry needs."

ICOA is a comprehensive analysis tool that reduces the intensive time demands required by Infection Control Professionals. The software system allows users to conduct infection surveillance, analyze infection data, and identify areas of concerns to prevent unnecessary infections and outbreaks. The system has alert capabilities and can interface with external admission, lab and surgical procedure systems.
